

Dave Rowland

Oklahoma Manufacturing Alliance

Dave Rowland is the President and CEO of the Oklahoma Manufacturing Alliance. The Oklahoma Manufacturing Alliance provides manufacturers with access to resources they need to succeed with help from advisors and industry experts. Dave also serves on several boards including The American Small Manufacturers Coalition whose mission is helping small and medium manufacturers transform into high-performance competitors.

Dave is a global manufacturing professional with more than 40 years of international experience with several fortune 100 companies including Caterpillar, Inc., Ford Motor Company, Stellantis, and Brunswick Corporation. Dave has managed organizations ranging in size from $15M in annual sales to more than $1billion.

Dave is a believer in the power of technology to accelerate progress in the manufacturing industry while creating a better quality of life for the American worker. He is leading the Oklahoma Manufacturing Alliance in helping clients harness digital manufacturing and intelligent automation, so teams work collaboratively, with expertise and purpose.

Dave is a graduate of Indiana University and has completed graduate studies from the University of Lausanne Switzerland while living in Europe.