

USMC COL (Ret) Howard “Howie” Marotto

Principal ADDvisor® of Strategy & Integration
The Barnes Global Advisors

With an extensive career in logistics and people management, Howie Marotto is known for his ability to provide structure to complexity. As Principal ADDvisor® of Strategy and Integration, Howie will support TBGA’s mission by expanding strategic engagements and using his skills to provide insight into advanced manufacturing trends, applications, and employment in a variety of scenarios. Prior to joining TBGA, he was Additive Manufacturing Business Director at EWI, providing leadership and strategic direction to EWI’s AM engineering team in deploying their vast equipment portfolio focused on delivering cutting-edge solutions to government and industry. Howie has worked for the Defense Logistics Agency in the F-35 Joint Program Office as the Autonomic Logistics Information Systems lead for Foreign Military Sales and as a Maintenance and Construction Supervisor and Power Distribution Manager in the power industry. Before joining EWI, he worked as the AM Strategic Business Development Manager for the Phillips Corporation.

Howie is also a Colonel in the Marine Corps Reserve with over 31 years of service and is currently assigned to the Office of Naval Research. He was recently activated as the Deputy Director, Reserve Affairs, overseeing personnel policy and career management for over 33,000 Reserve Marines. Prior to Reserve Affairs, Col. Marotto was the Deputy Commander for the 4th Marine Logistics Group (MLG), second-in-command of 8,500 Marines and Sailors in over 30 states and territories. He was also the Additive Manufacturing/3D Printing Lead for the Marine Corps before 4thMLG. Col. Marotto has deployed to Afghanistan, Iraq, and the Kosovo Conflict to support our country.
